Dr. MacQuarrie

Great God and Father of us all, we thank Thee for this day of victory.

And while our hearts are rejoicing, we still pray for the ending of war all over the world, that the peace of Jesus Christ, so simply and so clearly explained to us many centuries ago, may finally descend upon this tortured world.

Dr. T. W. MacQuarrie
President,
San Jose State College

DEDICATION

The staff of the Spartan Daily is proud to present a special edition of the paper to the students of San Jose State college, in commemoration of V-E Day, marking the end of one phase of the war.

This is a time for rejoicing and for prayer. We have reached one milestone along the road to final victory. Happiness in the accomplishment of a difficult task is natural. Rededication to the job that lies ahead is vital.

This is not yet the time to lay down our arms and celebrate a victory. We can only lay them down when the other great phase of the war has been successfully concluded.

A surge of pride in accomplishment, a moment of prayer for those who could not live to see the fulfillment of their aim and for those whose sacrifices lie ahead, and a renewed desire to finish the job are ours today.

Putting out this special edition is our way of recognizing and commending the great achievement that has been made, that has culminated in a triumphant V-E Day. We hope some day in the not-too-distant future to be able to present the final-victory edition which will mean an end and a beginning for all of us.

ALLIED COMMANDER-IN-CHIEF

General Dwight D. Eisenhower, Supreme Commander of the Allied Forces who has guided the Armies of the United Nations to complete victory over the German forces.

SPARTAN SERVICE RECORD

With the ending of hostilities in Europe, the Spartan service record stands at a total of 112 gold stars, representing former Spartans who have given their lives in the conflict.

The three service flags in the auditorium contain 3,894 stars, both gold and blue.

Former students who are missing in action number 28, while prisoners-of-war total 17. Two of these are held by the Japanese, 13 are German captives, and two are confined in neutral countries.

Forty-three faculty members are serving in the armed forces at present.

IT'S OFFICIAL!!

President Harry Truman of the United States and Prime Minister Winston Churchill of Great Britain today officially declared that hostilities cease at one minute after midnight, May 8. President Truman, speaking at 9 a.m. Eastern war time (6 a.m. Pacific war time) proclaimed Sunday, May 13 as a day of prayer.

Churchill, in a speech made simultaneously, declared that today and tomorrow are Victory in Europe days.

Both leaders emphasized that the war is only half won, that victory won in the West must now be won in the East.

In proclaiming May 13 (Mother's Day) as a national day of prayer, President Truman asked that his countrymen dedicate that day to those who died for victory.

Churchill explained that although Germany signed an act of unconditional surrender to the A.E.F. yesterday at 2:41 a.m., the agreement will be ratified at Berlin today. "Hostilities cease officially one minute after midnight tonight, Tuesday, the eighth of May," (3 p.m. Pacific time) he said.

"I call upon every American to stick to his post until the last battle is won," declared President Truman, "The watchword must be work, work, and more work."

Howard Riddle

(President, Associated Students, San Jose State College).

Pigeons roost contentedly on Tau Delt Tower while below a tension of unsurmountable joy is within each student's heart. The great day has finally arrived. Scenes of war and its sufferings are so remote from most of the collegers' eyes that only detailed newspaper accounts filled their hearts with the dull miseries of ceaseless bombings.

We have felt very much the brutality and suddenness of this war. Not in physical torture, but in dull heartaches which remind us of a very popular or a very special Spartan forever resting in peace on foreign soil.

As a veteran of this second great war and a Marine—I think with great pride of our famous Marine motto, "Semper Fidelis"—Always Faithful.

Through the years our country withstood its greatest tests for survival; our leaders, troops and civilians have been "always faithful." This war has proved that motto to hold true.

We feel exalted and carefree today. Let all of us join in on the festivities of this history-making triumph. But our fight is only half-way through. Although we, as students and teachers, cannot personally stamp out each remnant of opposition, we can maintain our college in such a way as to be of most useful service to the Spartans dying for our cause.

For the present, we must continue our restrictions and limitations to maintain a clear-cut route for the speedy end of this whole bloody mess. To all of our friends, let's repeat this motto: "We will not relax. We will see this great struggle to the bitter end—by the use of our time, our money and our concentrated efforts."

Students Gather For V-E Assembly Today In Morris Dailey

In observance of the formal declaration of V-E Day, students and faculty will gather in the Morris Dailey auditorium at 10 o'clock today for an all-college assembly.

Official confirmation of yesterday's news of German unconditional surrender was made this morning at 6 o'clock by President Harry Truman.

According to plans made by a committee composed of Dr. Robert Rhodes, Dr. James DeVoss, Dean Helen Dimmick, and Howard Riddle, the assembly program will include selections by the band, singing of the National Anthem, a prayer led by the Reverend Robert James, and a vocal solo by Milo Badger.

In the absence of Dr. T. W. MacQuarrie, who is in Sacramento, Dean James C. DeVoss will be the principal speaker. Dean Dimmick, Dr. Hugh Gillis, and ASB President Howard Riddle will also address the students.

Dr. Rhodes is chairman of the assembly.

The veterans will be seated on the platform. Radio broadcasts of interest will be included in the program also. The general mood of the occasion will be, in general, a triumphant, but solemn, rededication to national interest.

No rigid decision was made regarding classes today. Students are expected to realize that the war and responsibilities will still go on. However, official announcement will probably be made at the close of the assembly.

A radio and P.A. system will be in operation in the Morris Dailey auditorium for the convenience of the students.

HARRY S. TRUMAN

Harry Truman, a man who quietly did his work as a U. S. Senator, who became vice-president never imagining the chance that he might become president, was sworn into the Nation's highest office of service on April 12, 1945, one hour after the death of our late President Franklin Delano Roosevelt.

Son of a Missouri farmer, Truman was educated formally as far as high school and studied law on his own. He worked as a farmer, and did several other obscure jobs before World War I took him to France where he became a major and returned a hero.

He was a minor politician when Boss Tom Pendergast, whom he later refuted, made him a U. S. Senator in 1934. He was re-elected in 1940, and in his second term when World War II developed, he became a national figure with his work as a Senate Investigator. By the summer of 1944, Harry Truman had shown that his record was that which made him a Vice-Presidential possibility. He was nominated to that office because he was not antagonistic to any of the large parties.

Pleading for cooperation, Truman made his first address to the nation. Students of San Jose State college filled the Quad where the loud speaker system had been set up to hear him remind the world

FRANKLIN D. ROOSEVELT

Dying but a few weeks before the victory for which he fought so hard was realized, President Roosevelt is with us in spirit today as we celebrate the conclusion of one phase of the world conflict.

Through three terms and the beginning of a fourth as the highest officer of the land, President Roosevelt led the people through every kind of crisis.

Standing before the nation's Capitol on March 4, 1933, he said, "This nation asks for action and action now." And it got it. First came the dramatic Hundred Days; then, the Bank holiday, Fire-side chats, repeal of the 18th amendment, emergency agencies, and Supreme Court changes.

He and Cordell Hull negotiated reciprocal trade treaties, carried on the Good Neighbor policy, and instituted lend-lease and the peacetime draft.

Then came Pearl Harbor. The war was fought well, and the U. S. assumed a great nation's responsibility for the peace.

"Franklin Roosevelt brought his nation triumphantly through a great war and started it on the road to peace."

of the world of our late President. "We have nothing to fear except fear," and to pledge himself to do his best for the nation and the coming peace.

DRESS REHEARSAL TONIGHT FOR 'HAY FEVER' PRODUCTION; PLAY OPENS TOMORROW, 8:15

Full dress rehearsal is scheduled tonight in the Little Theater for the production of Noel Coward's "Hay Fever", scheduled to open tomorrow evening at 8:15. "Tickets are selling like wildfire!" stated

Mrs. Mary McCreath, Speech department secretary, yesterday in the Speech office where students lined up between classes to be sure of being able to see the San Jose Players-sponsored comedy.

Last night, at the second dress rehearsal, students from San Jose, Fremont, and Lincoln High schools acted on invitation as a test audience to aid Director Hugh Gillis in spotting the many laughs in the show.

A light, colorful set received its final touches over the weekend and yesterday. Under the direction of Technical Director Wendell Johnson, speech instructor, and his assistant, Al Johnson, and stage manager, Dale Bower, the set was prepared by members of the stagecraft classes and interested students.

Working in the line of publicity, members of San Jose Players, who each year sponsor a play, were noticed about the campus yesterday in picturesque garb having little to do with the theme of the play but which suggested the title of "Hay Fever" in an "off the farm" style. They are continuing today and tomorrow.

ALL INVITED TO WITNESS GOLF EXHIBITION

Everyone is invited to attend the demonstrations of Miss Betty Hicks, women's national golf champion, who will be here all day Wednesday, and will demonstrate at the 10 o'clock and 1 o'clock classes of Miss Margaretta Fristoe.

Miss Hicks, now golf instructor and student at Pomona college, Claremont, California, began to play golf at Long Beach Junior college golf classes in 1937 at the age of 16.

The star athlete is acting president of the Women's Professional Golfer's association; member of Tam O'Shanter country club, Chicago; member of advisory staff of J. A. Dunbow manufacturing company, Chicago; served as public relations specialist in the United States Coast Guard Women's Reserve (Spars, 1943-1944); became a professional in October, 1941; set 35 course records with an average of 73 strokes; and was chosen outstanding woman athlete of 1941 by an Associated Press poll.

Miss Hicks will meet the P. E. majors at 4 p. m.

College Minority Problem Surveyed By SCA Committee

An extensive investigation of the minority problem is being conducted by the race relations committee of the SCA.

To start the investigation, the committee members are visiting boarding houses and co-ops to ascertain the various aspects of the college student on this problem.

The questions being asked by the SCA members are:

- (1) If you had interests in common, would you room with a person of another racial group?
- (2) Would you have a ruling prohibiting discrimination?
- (3) Do you believe colored people should be allowed to live in any neighborhood they desire?
- (4) Should well qualified Negro teachers be allowed to teach in our public schools?
- (5) Would you approve of members of the following minority groups in boarding houses: Chinese, Jews, Japanese-Americans, Mexicans, Negroes and Filipinos.

Gamma Phi Sigma and Beta Gamma Chi's combined efforts netted $211.61 for the first day of the campus bond drive, announces Barbara Bressani, chairman.

Committee Heads Scheduled To Meet Today For Reports

Spardi Gras committee heads will meet today at 12:30 in the Student Union to discuss important developments in the planning of the May 25 celebration, announces Milo Badger, general chairman of the affair.

Badger requests that all committee heads be present to report on progress in the respective fields.

Publicity for the King and Queen contest will begin at 5 a. m. tomorrow. No publicity can be posted before 5, and no one will be allowed on campus before the hour.

Only one rally will be allowed an organization sponsoring a candidate and this rally must be signed for in the President's office as well as in the date book.

Badger and Roy Mische, construction chief, are drawing up concession locations and plans. Conclusions will be announced tomorrow.

A recent wire informing the chairmen of the King and Queen contest that Life magazine desires further details covering the college's annual carnival strengthens the possibility that Spardi Gras photos may appear in the national magazine.

Pacific Isle Goods Now On Display

Merchandise purchased in the islands of the Pacific is on display in the Home Economics building.

The display is held at this time to guide relatives and friends of men and women in the armed forces in a wiser selection of gifts by acquainting them with the native products.

Miss Helen Genter, a student in Dr. Margaret C. Jones' methods class, arranged the display. The articles illustrate three distinct types of shopping tours. The materials were loaned by Robert Hiatt, Ph. D., and John Ferrera.

REVELRIES HEAD TO BE CHOSEN FOR 1946 PRODUCTION

Highlighting the Student Council meeting last night was a Revelries report presented by Marian Jacobson which asked that a Revelries director for the 1946 production be chosen during the Spring quarter.

It was agreed by the council that applications for the director's post must be in the "S" box of the Student Union by 3 p. m. of June 1.

Spardi Gras publicity will begin tomorrow morning at 5 a. m. announced Harold Hyman, business manager. Hyman remarked that no signs or posters may be put up before that time, and the quad will be closed to everyone until 5 a. m. Spardi Gras members will be on hand to see that this restriction is carried out. "Entering the campus early to procure a desirable location for signs will result in forfeiture of candidate's rights," stated the business manager.

Marge Howell, ASB Vice-president, reported that names are being requested from various departments to be awarded at the Recognition Assembly.

The council members are working for the possibility of opening the college pool to students from 1 p. m. till 6 p. m. on Sunday.

John Brokenshire Talks To '30' Club

At tonight's regular meeting of the "30" club, John Brokenshire, journalism instructor and former city editor of the Mercury Herald, will speak in room 11 at 7:30.

Brokenshire has held positions on San Francisco papers and the New York Herald Tribune.

NOTICE

P. E. majors meeting Tuesday, May 8, at the Student Union at 7:35 p. m. Betty Hicks, women's national professional golf champion, will be the guest speaker. Important plans for Spardi Gras will be discussed in a short business meeting.

"Back up the boys who have given their lives," should remind all of us that the sooner the world conflict comes to an end, the sooner our men will come home," says Miss Bressani.

Students are asked to dig deep and buy a war bond if possible; in any case, at least purchase a number of stamps. "The people are fighting this war, and they must also pay for it," says the chairman.

Other organizations scheduled include Sappho and Allenian, Wednesday; Ero Sophian and Delta Sigma Gamma, Thursday; Delta Beta Sigma and Beta Chi Sigma, Friday; Phi Kappa Pi and Zeta Chi, Monday; and the Veterans, Tuesday.

Although the drive is being held in conjunction with the seventh war loan, it has been scheduled earlier to avoid conflict with end-quarter campus activities.

WATERCOLORS DISPLAYED IN ART BUILDING

On display now in the Art wing corridor are two dozen watercolors by Andrew Wyeth, ceramics, crafts, and jewelry by SJS art students.

In the long display case are examples of ceramics and crafts — the ceramics by members of Mr. Claude Horan's classes, and the crafts by Mrs. Ruthadell Horan's classes. In the small display case near the Art department office is jewelry designed and made by Mrs. Marion Wilkins' jewelry classes.

An exhibition of Dutch art sponsored by Princess Juliana of the Netherlands will go on display at the beginning of June, according to Art Department Head Dr. Marques E. Reitzel.

JUST AMONG OURSELVES

By Dr. T. W. MacQuarrie

Walter Bachrodt's gone and George Campbell's gone, and they were the two men this community depended upon most to put over such things as bond drives, the Community Chest, and the Red Cross.

Now Jack O'Keeffe, an insurance man down town, has taken up a good part of the load, especially the bond drives.

A banker can get away from his work occasionally, and so can a superintendent of schools, and the interest draws and the children recite just the same, but that's not true with an insurance man.

I tried insurance once, and I had to give it up because I was never free. Never was there a moment when I could feel that I had done all I could to get the business.

So Jack is making a heavy sacrifice. The other insurance men will be just as busy as ever while he is giving almost full time to this great job, and it's a good thing for the rest of us to recognize that.

We must get in and help now, more than ever. While the newsboys and the schools are all pitching in, I still believe we can sell a good many bonds right here.

It isn't like the Community Chest and the Red Cross. Nobody is asking you for a gift. It's an investment in the safest security in the world. Every time you persuade someone to buy a bond, you are helping him save some money — and make some money. For eighteen dollars and seventy-five cents now will come back as twenty-five dollars when the time is up.

Let's talk bonds, folks, nothing less; and let's give Jack a boost that will cheer him up when the going is hardest. If every one of us were to sell one bond that would — be a lot of money! (There's still quite a gang on this campus.)

DSG And Beta Chi Open Ball League Tomorrow Night

Delta Sigma Gamma and Beta Chi Sigma will open the softball league tomorrow night at 7 o'clock on the San Carlos turf.

The teams decided to play doubleheader on Monday and Wednesday nights, but tomorrow night only one game will be played. Thursday the Spartan Daily team will meet the Eleventh Street "Sluggers." Gamma Phi Sigma draws a bye for this week of play.

Games will start at 7 o'clock sharp, and if any team is not represented by at least seven players, that team will be forced to forfeit the contest.

An official sign-up should be held for every team, and the list of available players turned in to either the Spartan Daily or to Ed Loudon.

Largest Audience Since War Hears Symphonic Band

Performing Sunday before the largest audience since the war, the San Jose State college symphonic band presented its 25th annual concert, dedicated to the Spartans who have been killed in the service.

Included in the concert was a special arrangement by Edith Eagan of Bach's Ariosa, presented in tribute to the fallen Spartans.

The program was opened and closed with the presentation and securing of the colors, conducted by college veterans. Taps was sounded by Vernon Parrish, echoed by Robert Campbell of the band.

Invitations were sent in advance to parents of the Gold Star Spartans, according to Thomas Eagan, band conductor.

COTTONS FOR CUTTIN' CAPERS

Like magic are these tricky new cottons Louanna's are showing! They are so versatile that they seem especially for Co-eds. For one, the sun-backed, dress cuties that have boleros in matching or contrasting colors. Wear them to school and look cool and crisp on these warm days and then when you're out sketching or practicing your golf swing you need not long for a sun suit, just take off the bolero and add to your tan. Clever, what?

And the newest sun suits all have dirndl skirts to go with them and make your dreams of what to wear on that picnic or beach party come true.

Pinafore's are back again in the brightest of stripes in that long-wearing kind of seer-sucker and can be worn with or without blouses.

And at prices from $7.99 to $10.99, you have no excuse for not keeping cool and smart on campus and off.
